REFERENCES FOR AD/HD FACT SHEETS

4. www.addwarehouse.com

9. www.chadd.org (CHADD fact sheets #2, #5 and #7)

12. www.ncld.org

17. www.ragebehavior.com

Other Books of Interest

Internet Sources

Canadian

www.ldac-taac.ca

www.aqeta.qc.ca

www.chaddcanada.org

http://www.associationpanda.qc.ca/ (French)

www.adans.ns.ca

http://snow.utoronto.ca/best/accommodate/index.html

http://www.adrm.org/index.html

USA

http://www.add.org/

www.addsupport.org

http://www.addvance.com/

www.adrn.org

www.adhdnetwork.org

www.helpforadd.com/

www.LDOntLine.org

http://www.liahonaprogram.com/info/behavioral.html

http://www.sarisolden.com/

------------------------------------------------------------------

AD/HD is not a learning disability. Each is a distinctive neurologically based disorder. Each is recognized and diagnosed differently. And each is treated in a different way. The treatment for AD/HD will not correct LD. The treatment for LD will not help AD/HD. About 30% to 40% of people with LD will also have AD/HD, so if one disorder is found it is important to look for the other.

This project has been funded with an unrestricted educational grant from Eli Lilly Canada Inc. LDAC is solely responsible for the content.